Nancy Coey

Travels from: North Carolina

Fee Range: $5,001 - $7,500

Warm, witty and honest, Nancy Coey has the unique ability to see the extraordinary in the ordinary. With her conversational style and common-sense content, audiences come away feeling that she has spoken directly to them.

Nancy developed her keen eyesight from more than twenty years of teaching the Dreaded Freshman English. Nancy taught both writing and public speaking at Ohio State University, the University of Hawaii, and North Carolina State University, and her work has been highlighted on the PBS series, "Excellence in Teaching." In helping students "train their eyes," Nancy trained her own. As a result, her programs are filled with original material - material you will hear nowhere else.

In over ten years as a motivational keynote speaker, Nancy has built a reputation for original and memorable stories. Her presentation for the National Speakers Association, "Creating Memorable Material," was the Atlanta Workshop's #1 best-selling tape.

Nancy writes the way she speaks. Her book, Finding Gifts in Everyday Life, a collection of true stories from her own life, is in its 5th printing and is a B. Dalton "Book of the Week."

Nancy and her husband, Don, have been married for thirty years and have two grown sons. They have traded in the folding chairs they used to carry from soccer to football to baseball fields and now spend time watching deer eat the green things they had so lovingly planted in their backyard.
